

Delegates of Aircrete Europe meeting with Prime Minister Rutte and Queen Máxima of the Netherlands

G20 Leader's Summit 2018 was held in Buenos Aires, Argentina between November 30th – December 1st. The Netherlands participated in the summit as a guest country and was represented by the Prime Minister Mark Rutte and Her Majesty Queen Máxima. Within this frame, the Embassy of the Kingdom of the Netherlands in Buenos Aires hosted a side Dutch Business event in Palacio De Las Aguas Corrientes on December 1st. Only six companies from the Netherlands with strong trade and business relations with Argentina were invited to participate Dutch Business Event, one of which was Aircrete Europe.

Aircrete Europe developed a new, state-of-the-art AAC panel (and block) plant with an initial capacity of 120,000 m³ in San Lorenzo, near the city of Rosario in Argentina this year, together with leading regional construction and development partner companies Grupo Brayco and Pecam. The Dutch Development Bank, FMO, supported the export of Aircrete Europe's AAC panel production technology to Brimax. A EUR 4.8 million loan financed (part of) the production equipment as well as the commissioning of the equipment at this recently established Aircrete AAC panel plant. A detailed report about this plant can be read in AAC worldwide, issue 1, 2018. ●

“... Aircrete, they are investing 30 million US Dollars partly financed through FMO bank which is particularly focusing on developing in companies. They (Aircrete) are working on a joint venture here (in Argentina) with a local partner, working on constructions to be environmentally friendly.” Mark Rutte, Prime Minister of the Netherlands.

During the private table carousel on the side event, Aircrete Group's CEO & Founding Partner Jop van Boggelen and Founding Partner Yolanda Nunes talked with the Prime Minister Mark Rutte, Queen Máxima and the Governor of Buenos Aires about further expanding the business in Argentina with governmental support and the increased need for energy efficient building technology in an affordable way.
